1 | INTRODUCTION

1.1 | OUTPUT 2

EDICULA project aims to reform the curricula of three post graduate programs in the field of Cultural Heritage, to permit their graduates, despite their discipline, to commonly respond to the need to face grand challenges and risks in complex environments. The parallel and complementary approach of the reformation of specific courses in these Master Programs, promotes the need for harmonization for the future creation of a Joint transdisciplinary Master Degree in the field of Monument Rehabilitation and Conservation.

2 | DELIVERABLE 2.4 ASSIGNMENT OF THE THREE DOCTORAL THESES

Task 2.2 Doctoral reformation, as observed for Task 1 (Post-Graduate Reformation), was to some degree affected by the pandemic crisis in the context of disrupting the academic activities.

Therefore, NTUA has to postpone the beginning of PhD work.

UNIROMA1 planned a PhD starting in the academic year 2021/2022 working on Edicula issues.

The candidate will start working in November, as usually happens at Sapienza University of Rome. The candidate thesis will include the Co-Supervision with BEZ and the PhD student will alternate periods in Rome and host university abroad to complete the doctoral dissertation as well as thesis work will be supervised by the university partners.

PhD project submitted to the Committee and subsequently approved is enclosed in the pdf file named "Deliverable O2_2.4 Adi Sela Wiener_PhD Application_F".

Differently from the other two institutions, BEZ has to start from the beginning trying to create the base to create a PhD program.
